Road improvements to interrupt Corps recreation access

Walla Walla, Wash., -- Recreation access to some local facilities operated by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, will be temporarily affected through the end of next week, according to a recreation official at the nearby Mill Creek project office.

“We have construction underway at Rooks Park and along the Mill Creek Recreation Trail to improve and enhance recreational facilities,” said Dave Hays, the Corps’ Mill Creek park manager. “Our plan is for the contractor to finish the job by the end of next week.”

This week, the Mill Creek Recreation trail will see intermittent closures June 5 and 6, from 7 a.m.--5 p.m. The closure will allow workers to do trail paving between the Mill Creek Project Office and Rooks Park.

Paving work moves to Rooks Park next week which will be closed to motor vehicles June 10-12. For more information, call (509) 527-7160.
